ONE CENT

YOUTH KILLED WHEN RUN OVER BY AUTO

Ross Watson is Victim of Unusual Accident on Maple Creek Road

FALLS UNDER MACHINE

Was Practicing for Bicycle Race to Take Place at Time of Celebration

Falling from his bicycle directly in front of an automobile driven by Guy Woodward of Charleroi, Edwin Ross Watson, the 17-year-old son of Mrs. Sarah Watson, of Lincoln avenue, received injuries at 8 o'clock Wednesday that resulted in his death at 10 o'clock. The young man died at his home without regaining consciousness.

Young Watson was intending to enter the bicycle contest to be held as a feature of the four town celebration here October 15, and together with Brice Ray and John Bradshaw, both of Charleroi was out practicing Wednesday night for the event. They were headed in the direction of Charleroi when the accident occurred near what is commonly known as Cooper's Mill, three miles from town on the Maple Creek road.

Woodward, together with Seward H. Might and two young women was on his way to Brownsville. It seems that Watson was riding at an ordinary speed on his bicycle and the automobile was also traveling at an ordinary speed. When within a few feet of the automobile Watson wavered on his wheel and the next instant pitched directly underneath the machine. Before Woodward could stop it the car had passed over the youth.

The unconscious young man was picked up from the side of the road where he had been thrown and a doctor immediately summoned from Charleroi. Then he was brought home. Death occurred as the result of injuries to his head and lower part of his abdomen.

The accident seems to have been one of the unpreventable kind. According to the various stories told, the car and the bicycle were in proper position to pass when young Watson toppled from his machine. Woodward is not blamed.

The victim of the tragedy belonged to a well known family. He was the son of the late Alexander Watson, a former coal operator of Charleroi. His mother, four sisters and one brother survive. They are: Mrs. Charles Wallgren, Jessie Watson, Anna Watson, Eva Watson, Martha Watson and Norman Watson.

Coroner James T. Heffran has been notified and will conduct an investigation into the accident.

I believe the Republican majority for the candidates will be very large."

The contract specified that the truck was to be finished in 120 working days from May 19, and it is to be shipped as soon as completed. The time for the machine to be finished was up Wednesday. It is expected that the truck will arrive next week. The regular price of the truck is $6,500 but a special price of $6,000 was made to Charleroi. Part of the money to pay for it is being raised by subscription. A list of the contributors will be published later.

Some days as much as 1,200 pounds of ice were placed in the cooling tank of the fountain. The least amount that was put in the tank any one day was 300 pounds. Ice was placed in the tank as a usual thing three times a day.

Victory by Boston Nationals Means Much to Magic City

BILL PHILLIPS WINS

Gov. Tener, President of National, Glad of Fellow Townsmen's Success

If the Boston Braves win the world's championship baseball series, Charleroi will be at the topmost pinnacle of baseball fame, and there will not be another town or city in the country that can equal it.

There are good reasons. Gov. Tener, a Charleroi man, is president of the National league—as everybody knows—and the representative of the National league in the world's series scrap is the Boston club. Then today came the announcement that in another of the big leagues Bill Phillips, of Charleroi had brought the club to the top as a pennant winning organization. The team Phillips bosses is Indianapolis.

Governor and President Tener were in Charleroi for a short while Wednesday night and smiled when asked as to his opinion of the baseball situation.

"I have nothing to say of baseball," he said, "excepting this, that I have faith and hope in the Braves winning." Although it wasn't mentioned, there were others present who devoutly seconded the motion from the viewpoint that it would help the Magic City.

"Because of my personal regard for my fellow townsman, Bill Phillips, I am delighted to learn of his individual success," concluded the governor—pardon—president.

In addition to President Tener and Manager Bill Phillips, Charleroi has a few other representatives in baseball, among which are Arch Osborne and John McIlvaine, both pitchers and both successful.

THE PROGRESSIVE'S DEMISE

From all sections of the country alike come the tidings and the symtoms that denote the dissolution of the Progressive party. Every test vote of city or of state shows the return of the Progressive voter to the Republican homestead, the place of his true belief and of his real opportunity. Even the leaders of the third party are giving up their stand as assistants to Democracy, says the Philadelphia Press.

In the State primary of New York there was a most significant exhibition of the Progressives, both as to their real numbers and their mental processes. Everything known to the skilled in politics was done to bring out a big Progressive vote. Not only was there a contest for the nomination for governor, but it was one in which something vital was at stake.
The Progressive leaders, headed by Mr. Roosevelt himself, sent a letter to every enrolled member of that party, beseeching him to attend the primary and vote for the hand-picked nominee, Mr. Davenport. Of course this was an absolute violation of every principle of the direct primary, the very foundation stone of which is that to the individual voter is left the free choice between candidates, uninfluenced and unboasted.

To this urgent call of the leaders, a paltry thirty thousand responded in all that great state. Yet in 1912 almost an even four hundred thousand votes were cast in New York for the Progressive candidate for President. One year ago, when there was a judicial election in the state, the Progressive vote was nearly two hundred thousand. Under the circumstances, the vote in the New York primary was very eloquent of the tremendous decline and the speedy demise of the third party.

And the Progressive party in that state was brought still lower by having to fight to its utmost to prevent it from being captured by the impeached and discredited Democratic governor. No further commentary upon the lofty professions of the still obstinate Progressives is needed than the fact that nearly one-half of the party in New York swarmed after and followed the lead of a man of the type of Mr. Sulzer.

At about the same time a primary was held out in Colorado, in the city of Denver. In that city, Mr. Roosevelt received twenty-three thousand votes for president two years ago.
The Progressive vote in the primary of this fall was but two thousand, a falling off of over ninety per cent.
Both east and west, it is alike a fast disappearing force.

In Massachusetts one of the members of the Progressive State Committee has just resigned the position, and at the same time said this in a public statement: "In 1912 there was a real Progressive party, of which I early became an enthusiastic member.
In 1914 that party, torn by internal dissensions, boss rule and non-progressive leadership, has ceased to be of any political power other than that of being the indirect means of electing a minority party."

"The real Progressive movement is today represented in the Republican party, which, being free from those ills which beset the dying Progressive party, will, if put into power, give us a new era of prosperity. I, therefore, at this time withdraw from the Progressive party and publicly affiliate myself with the Republican party, and I earnestly hope that all real Progressives will get together under the Republican standard in the coming campaign."

These are typical proofs of the homeward bound movement of the Progressive voter. Here are three incidents, in New York, in New England and in Colorado, all of the same kind and pitched in the same key. They tell the story well, the story of the country-wide disappearance of a third party that but blocks the path to the ending of Democratic rule in the nation.

WAR NEWS & HEALTH.

With the greater portion of the space in the newspapers devoted to the news from the fields of conflict it is inevitable that the interest of the nation should be centered upon the Titanic struggle now waging. Modern facilities for the gathering and transmission of news make it possible for all of us to familiarize ourselves with the details of the struggle. The strictest of censorship does not forbid the publication of page after page of distressing stories.

It verges upon the miraculous weekly talks on health and hygiene, this ability to read at the breakfast table history which has been made but a few hours previous. We pay a price for it however greater than is generally appreciated. Continual depression of mind reacts upon the body and interferes with its functions.

Dwelling upon the harrowing stories of peaceful cities devastated and death and destruction stalking grimly over Christian lands cannot help but stir the most phlegmatic soul with horror. With these vivid impressions continually before us day after day the most serene surroundings take on a dire aspect. Peace and quietude are impossible.

The effect of all this upon those who are not unusually vigorous and sane may be positively dangerous.
For those who are aged and infirm it is certain to result in marked physical as well as mental depression. The connection between the mind and the nerve centers which control the vital organs is of extreme delicacy and is little understood. Certain it is that continued mental disturbance is often the forerunner of serious bodily ailments.

While it is not to be expected that anyone will entirely abstain from keeping the run of the war it is well to exercise restraint in this regard.
Do not allow it to monopolize your thoughts. The cultivation of optimism and cheerful view of life is at all times desirable; under the present conditions it is the best of health insurance.

MAN ACCUSED OF MONESSEN MURDER IS APPREHENDED

Francisco Malandrino, an Italian, who is alleged to have shot and killed Louis Gallo, another Italian, on the steps of the Italian club at Mon-essen Tuesday night, was captured Wednesday afternoon in Wild Cat Hollow near Monessen, by Private Murphy, of the Monessen detachment of the state police. When found, Malandrino was sad and dejected and when brought back to town is said to have confessed his guilt before Justice of the Peace Watkins.

The capture of the Italian followed a night and morning of thorough searching the valley, and came as a sequel to the particularly energetic work done by Private Murphy.

The quarrel which ended in such tragic fashion is said to have been the ancient reason, a woman for its cause. Both Italians loved the same woman, it is alleged and were lodgers in her house. A short time ago, she sent Malandrino away, professing her love for the unfortunate Gallo. Jealously together with a draught of the cup, precipitated the tragic and dramatic end of the love affair.
The alleged murdered was taken to Greensburg, the county seat.

SENTENCE CHANGED ON ACCOUNT OF HER CHILD'S DEATH

Sara Johnson, colored who had been serving a jail sentence on a charge of larceny, has been released on account of the death of her child.
The court changed the sentence so that her term of imprisonment expired at once. Katherine Hill was the child's name and it fell down stairs at the home of "Sis" Gillian, at Mc-Donald, dying of a broken neck.
The mother, who was in jail, was not informed of the child's death, but simply told the child had been seriously hurt. She left at once for McDonald. The offense for which she was committed occurred at Cherry Valley. She was indicted with Clarence Patterson, formerly of Washington.
Patterson is still in jail. Patterson assisted her in stealing some goods from a peddler, while she was pretending to look over the stuff.

MEMORY OF THE CIVIL WAR

Priest Shared Blanket With Puritan and Had an Idea the Angels Were Not Displeased.

While the trouble in Mexico is inspiring patriotic emotions in those Americans who are zealous for their country's repute, and Civil war memories are being revived by the steady diminishing survivors of that great struggle, this story of the late Rev. Joseph H. Twichell is of peculiar interest. It relates to the friendship existing between the Hartford pastor and a Roman Catholic priest who was his brother: chaplain in a certain brigade of the northern army. It occurred on the night of the battle of Fredericksburg. Let the Protestant preacher tell it in his own way:

We had both been active for hours and by midnight were compelled to have sleep. So we went to one side of the camp and lay down under the sky. It was very cold and we had only a blanket apiece. After a time Father O'Hagan called to me to ask if I were asleep.

"No," said I. "It's so cold I can't get to sleep."

"Neither can I," retorted he. "Let's club our blankets."

We did, and we lay there side by side with two blankets over us instead of one. I was falling asleep when I felt him shaking beside me and asked what was the matter. He was laughing softly and didn't answer for a moment. It seemed to me a queer place to laugh, for we were in the midst of hundreds of dead and wounded soldiers.

"I'm laughing at us," he said finally.

"Why, what do you mean?"

"Us two here—me a Jesuit priest, and you a Puritan parson—snuggled up here under the same blankets."

A minute or two passed and then he looked up into the sky and said quietly: "But I shouldn't wonder if the angels like to look at it."

No Time to Waste.

A western physician has two children, Ernest and Alice, aged nine and eleven respectively. Recently the doctor and his wife made a week-end trip to the country, leaving the children at home with the servants. They were to return Monday night on a train due at ten o'clock. The children wanted to meet them at the depot, and of course received definite instructions not to do so.

When the parents arrived, at 11:30, their train being an hour and a half late, they were surprised to find Ernest and Alice waiting for them, and all alone. The mother rushed forward to expostulate, but was cut off by the shrill voice of Alice crying:
"Hurry up, mother. Don't stop to talk.
The taxi's up to $7.00 already!"

Colors of Music.

There has just been installed at Queen's Hall in London a color organ for representing musical effects in terms of colored lights thrown upon a screen, which has been designed expressly for the deaf. Each note played produces a corresponding color, and the color combinations are said to cause the same delight to the deaf ear as the harmonious sounds of a composition do to the normal ear. The organ was devised by Prof. Wallace Rimington, and among those who have become very much interested in the project is M. Alexander Scabin, a Russian composer, who has achieved a foremost position in European musical circles.

Woman's Long Dog-Sled Trip.
The cold and frozen Arctic had no particular terrors for Mrs. J. L. Bond, wife of Captain Bond, who has returned to San Francisco with her husband and the Thirtieth regiment of infantry from a two years' stay in Alaska at Fort Gibbon.

Mrs. Bond entered enthusiastically into the sports of the region of the midnight sun, snow, and perpetual ice, becoming an expert skier and something of a musher. The longest and most perilous trip which she took was made with her own dog team in company with Mrs. R. H. Pearson and two expert guides from Fort Gibbon to Fairbanks, then to Chena Hot Spring and back to Fort Gibbon, a distance of 650 miles. The thermometer stood between 40 and 50 below zero during the whole of the trip. Mrs.
Bond says she enjoyed every mile of the trip and refused to admit that there was anything hazardous in it.
They were well provided with food and covers.

Two
ways of getting along

Which wins?

Now and then, we hear people say that they can get along without a typewriter.
Yes, we believe that. Only forty years ago everybody got along without one.

So they did, a little further back, without the steam engine and the railroad train. They got along without them because there were none.

Anyone today who thinks he can get along without the typewriter because he can do his writing with the pen, is like the man who thinks he doesn't need the railroad because he can walk. In your method of writing you may be "walking" today.
If so, then remember that the railroad is built and—

SURVEYING IN FAR NORTH

Work Has to Be Done Quickly or Party Is in Grave Danger of Being Frozen In.

North of the Porcupine river, on the upper section of the Alaska-Canada boundary survey, the geodesists assigned to this work by the two governments found that only 100 days elapsed from the first navigation up the river in May until it was time to retreat rather than take the risk of being frozen in.

The highest and most difficult climbs on the work were probably made this last season, when one of the Canadian topographical parties occupied Mount Natchat, 12,000 feet high, and a joint American and Canadian party succeeded in getting up without about two thousand feet of the summit of Mount St. Elias, which towers 18,000 feet above the sea. This party would probably have been successful in reaching the summit had not a four days' snow storm depleted their supplies to such an extent that they were forced to retreat to their base, 40 miles away over the glaciers.—Engineering Record.

WELL ADAPTED TO THE WORK

Dredge Employed to Dig Channel Through Cranberry Marsh a Credit to Designers.

In Wisconsin there is a clamshell-bucket dredge in use which at each shovelful removes an amount of material much greater than the size of the bucket itself. The reason is that the outlet is being used to dig a channel through a cranberry marsh, where the material to be cleared away varies all the way from tangled weeds to hardpan. The eventual object of this channel, which is 30 feet wide and 6 feet deep, is to drain 1,500 acres of cranberry land. In one section of this land there is a lake, the waters of which must be distributed throughout the bogs during certain seasons of the year. The use of this type of bucket, which, besides digging into hard ground, will also come away with bushels of underbrush, matted boughs etc., hanging from its jaws, illustrates the art of adapting the tool to the work.—Popular Mechanics.

Angleworm "Farm."

There are "farms," it seems, the products of which bear no relation to farming as ordinarily pursued. The latest addition to the list is an angle-worm "farm," conducted by Mr. W.
Orton Moon, who lives near Grand Rapids, Mich. His farm is one of the curiosities of Michigan. It consists of 25 pails, pots, pans and old crocks.
Each receptacle, or "field," contains from 40 to 500 angleworms.

During the last three years his peculiar crop has netted him $1,000 annually. He delivers his worms in oiledpaper packages, one dozen to the package, at ten cents each. Here is his way of rearing angleworms:

Get several good angleworms. Place them in an ordinary pail, or granite receptacle, with two double handfuls of earth. Feed the worms twice a day on coffee grounds and corn meal. They will thrive and multiply.—Youth's Companion.

Fine Archeological Specimens.

Archeological discoveries of great importance have been made in the excavations at Alise Sainte Reine—the ancient stronghold of the Gauls which was defended against Caesar by Ver-cingetorix.

At the spot known as Saint Pere cemetery, near the sixth-century Christian basilica discovered last year, M.
Pernet, who is directing the searches, has exhumed the skeleton of a warrior, having at his right side a splendid iron sword and at his left side a dagger of similar metal, with the worn-out remains of a wooden sheath.

At a short distance away three ancient hunting knives were found, together with a bronze ornament—a marvelous piece of work, representing the head of an animal. This latter is considered the finest specimen of its kind unearthed so far in the excavations, and has been placed in the Alisea museum at Sainte Reine.

Captain's Remarkable Record.

After an absence of 42 years, Capt.
John Leslie, a well-known Englishman on the Pacific coast, is returning to England, having established a remarkable record in seamanship in America.

He retired, after 50 years' service, in May. He was a veteran skipper of the ferry service at San Francisco, Cal., and has traveled more than one million miles on the waters of the Bay of San Francisco and the rivers that empty into it.

In all that time, though he had had millions in his care, he never lost a passenger and never had a serious accident. It is the record of the bay.

"The Living Hope of Mankind." In spite of the rawness and verements and a scum of blatant, oh! little asinine folly, the United States America remains the greatest country in the world and the living hope of mankind, writes H. G. Wells in the passionate Friends. It is the supreme break with the old tradition; it is the freshest and most valiant believing that has ever been made in human life.

More Modern Way.

"When the district attorney fixed me jury with his glittering eyes I felt sure I would be convicted."
"Glittering eyes are not always the best things with which to fix a jury."

WAR BULLETINS

Paris, Oct. 8.—The German right wing cavalry has succeeded in pushing its advance from Tournai west to Armentieres. It is engaged with cavalry from the allies armies. The German cavalry is believed to be part of a screening force of a large body of artillery and infantry. The situation remains unchanged in the center.
The French are advancing on the Germans left wing. It is believed that the Germans are attempting to strengthen their left wing with troops from the right wing.

London, Oct. 8.—It is reported that the Ostend railway line has been cut between Courtrai and Thourout.

Rome, via Paris, Oct. 8.—A dispatch from Berlin says that the civilians of Lanaken, Belgium, having defeated German troops reprisals were necessary. Lanaken was bombarded and its church destroyed.

Along the road between Lanaken and Tongres all the houses were burned.

Berlin, Oct. 8.—Continuous French outflanking movements against the situation is the same.

London, Oct. 8.—The Germans have brought up reinforcements from Koenigsberg on the Prussian frontier. Beyond the Vistula advance guard battles have occurred in the region of Opotaw and Sandomir. In the Carpathians, west of the River Sanok, an Austrian detachment was defeated and machine guns and prisoners captured.

Paris, Oct. 8.—The ground previously ceded by the French between Chaulnes and Roye has been retaken.
The French have advanced on certain points in the center. The right wing situation is the same.

COMPANY READY TO PAY FOR WORK DONE

In the suit at Washington of the First National Bank of Canonsburg against the North Strabane Water Co., the defendant, by its president, J.
V. Clark has filed an affidavit of defense. The action involves two items of $1,000 each, due for work done in the construction of the water company's dams in North Strabane township. The company does not deny the claim and sets forth that it is willing and ready to pay the same when it knows who is lawfully entitled thereto.

The amounts in dispute were estimated due the Hallam Construction Co., John W. Hallam receiver. The defendant company sets forth that long before these estimates were due it was notified by the Union Trust Co., of Washington not to make further payments to the plaintiff. The Hallam Construction Co., owed the plaintiff bank certain sums, secured by notes and estimates were paid the bank in satisfaction of these judgments, until the defendant company was notified by the Union Trust Co. not to pay further estimates. The Union Trust Co., prior to the receivership of the Hallam Construction Co., has caused execution to be made upon a certain judgment for $21,000. The contract with the water company was completed by the receiver of the Hal-lam Construction Co.

Save the Dog.

The Oregon state board of health bulletin says wisely with reference to mad dogs, "never kill the animal that bit you, save it with the greatest care, for the condition that dog develops is of the greatest consequence to the person bitten. If the dog is killed, the negro bodies, which are of importance in the diagnosis, may not be developed and no one will ever know whether the dog was or was not rabid. But if the dog is saved he will himself within a week or ten days show whether or not he is rabid. If he proves himself clear of rabies the man bitten need give the matter no further consideration from that side, and if it prove that he is rabid, there is still plenty of time for the man to take the proper remedies. If a dog bites you, save the dog."

Hadn't Seen Them.

A correspondent from Cheshire, England, says: "I came upon a small boy not long ago who was moodily fishing with an improvised rod and hook in the muddy waters of the canal. I cannot but believe that he will make a great fisherman some day, for he seemed to have the dogged perseverance necessary for the craft.
But he was clearly far from happy. He paid no attention to me at all but mournfully pursued the matter in hand. 'What are you doing?' I asked him at last. 'Fishing for snigs?' 'I don't know,' he replied, 'I've never caught any yet.'"

Flies Disliked in Denmark.

On the billboards of Copenhagen, appears the sign, "The most dangerous of all animals is not the lion, the tiger or the reptile, but—the fly." This is the means Herr Falck uses in waging a campaign against flies.

Herr Falck is the bitterest enemy the fly has in Scandinavia, and his one ambition is to see a flyless Denmark.
To preach his new crusade he has organized in Copenhagen the first complete fly exhibition in the world. It contains every kind of weapon yet invented for trapping, poisoning or smashing flies. Most of these contrivances come from the United States.

An old superstition that Herr Falck hopes to rid the people of is that a Christmas fly brings good luck. A Christmas fly, according to Herr Falck, is the potential mother of 195, 312,500,000 descendants in the course of the summer season.

COAL OPERATIONS NOT HANDICAPPED AT PRESENT TIME

A long-continued period of weather during which there has been only one light rain has interfered with coal operations within the Pittsburg and neighboring districts. Many of the mountain streams have dried up and mines and quarries have been seriously handicapped. A number of coal mines have been obliged to shut down because, it is stated, the price which coal now commands is so low that it does not justify the mine owners in making provisions to haul water, as some of the branch railroad lines and a number of mining companies are now doing.

George W. Schleuderberg, general manager of mine operations for the Pittsburg Coal company says that company had not been embarrassed in its mine operations largely because the company buys electric power from the West Penn plant on the banks of the Youghiogheny at Connellsville, which draws its water supply from the river.

John C. Patterson, vice president and manager for the Youghiogheny & Ohio Coal Company said that his company was operating its mines, but is hauling water from long distances in order to keep its power plants in operation. He said he had heard of a number of individual plants that had been forced to shut down because of a shortage of water.

In the Allegheny valley a number of mines are idle on account of water shortage, and in Westmoreland, Indiana, Cambria, Jefferson and Clearfield counties shortage of water has seriously interfered with mine and coke operations.

Like conditions are reported from West Virginia and Ohio, among mining companies and railroads, many of which are hauling water.

Connellsville beat the Uniontown team 39 to 6 and also beat Charleroi 31 to 7. The local boys have been practicing hard and are in better condition than they were when they played Connellsville.

TWO INQUESTS ARE CONDUCTED BY THE CORONER

Two inquests were held at McDonald Tuesday by Coroner Heffran. In the case of the death of Dominik Becosky, who was shot near McDonald on Sunday, September 27, the jury decided that death was caused by the hand of Percy Thompson. Thompson has been arrested at Bridgeville and will probably be held for court.

Accidental death due to the heavy fog which prevented the men from seeing the approach of the train, was the finding of the jury in the case of the three men, Oscar Ralston, Charles McFarland, and Hugh H. Crozier, of Dresden, Ohio, who were killed by a train on the Panhandle, not far from Hanlin Station on Saturday, September 26.

ANTICIPATE SALE OF CHURCH EDIFICE

Upon petition the court has made an order for the sale of the Disciple church property, West Brownsville. The congregation at that place has not met for about seven years and the church property has not been used by it, though some other denominations have worshipped in the building.

Many of the members have united with the Disciple church at Brownsville and others have gone to other churches in that community. At a meeting of the trustees recently it was decided to sell the church property.

Those petitioning the court were W. H. Marker, Mrs. Ella Lowstuter and W. H. Hardwick, trustees. The property is to be sold to Rt. Rev. Alexan der Menolsky, bishop of the North American diocese, in trust for the congregation of the Holy Resurrection Russian Orthodox Greek Catholic church of West Brownsville at a consideration of $2,200.

As to the distribution of the proceeds, that matter is yet to be determined. It is proposed to give $1,000 of the sum to the Disciple church at Brownsville. The distribution will probably be put in the hands of an auditor.
